I. Comprehension

Text

Ekpessosso, the traditional festival of the Guin people, was inscribed on UNESCO's Representative List of Intangible Cultural Heritage of Humanity on December 11, 2025. This recognition highlights the importance of preserving and promoting Togo's cultural heritage.

The festival, which marks the new lunar year, involves taking a sacred stone and interpreting its colour as a message from divinities for the coming year. The colours have different meanings: white signifies peace and prosperity, red indicates war, and black foretells famine or diseases.

This inscription is a significant achievement for Togo, becoming the country's third element recognized by UNESCO. It will help raise awareness about the importance of preserving intangible cultural heritage and promote cultural diversity.
